2. Jeanne Vicerial: Nymphoses

Galerie Templon (Beaubourg) – 30 rue Beaubourg, 75003 Paris
May 17 to July 19, 2025

At Galerie Templon, Jeanne Vicerial builds bodies out of black thread. As visitors move through Nymphoses, they encounter a show that is part sculpture, part ritual, and part skin-shedding.

These massive forms are hand-crocheted into being and pulse with memory and transformation. Moreover, Vicerial takes the idea of the “nymph” and flips it, no longer passive or pretty, but strong, strange, and evolving. In addition, her work challenges traditional representations of femininity with tactile precision and symbolic power. Ultimately, this is a must-see for fans of textile art, mythology, and transformation in Paris's vibrant scene of flash expos.
